OBJECTIVES:

talking about cancer can save lives. Cancer Research UK's cancer awareness training programme, Talk Cancer, will equip you with the skills and confidence to have conversations about cancer and health with people in your community.

The Talk Cancer training will help you to:

- understand the key messages around cancer awareness
- talk to people about how they could reduce their risk of getting cancer
- help people understand the importance of spotting cancer early and the screening programmes available
- appreciate and address the fears and barriers faced by people when talking about cancer
- have effective, supportive conversations about cancer and health
- understand the impact health inequalities can have on cancer outcomes
- encourage people to take positive action for their health, use local services and see their doctor with any concerns

Principal
Gandhi Academy of
Technology and Engineering, Berhampur

OUTCOME:

The outcomes of cancer awareness efforts are multifaceted and can contribute to positive changes at individual, community, and societal levels. Successful cancer awareness campaigns may lead to the following outcomes:

Better treatment outcomes:

When the disease is detected at an early stage, it is often easier to treat and may require less aggressive treatment. This increases the likelihood of successful treatment and reduces the risk of recurrence or it spreading to other parts of the body.

Improved survival rates:

Early detection can also improve survival rates, as treatment can be started early before the cancer has a chance to spread. This is particularly true for cancers that are aggressive and have a high likelihood of spreading, such as lung and pancreatic cancer.

More treatment options:

Early detection of cancer means that there are more treatment options available, including surgery, radiation therapy, chemotherapy, and targeted therapy. Some of these treatments may not be suitable for advanced cancer, so early detection can expand the range of options available to the patient.

Reduced healthcare costs:

Early detection can also lead to reduced healthcare costs as less aggressive and less invasive treatments may be required. It can also reduce the need for hospitalization and other supportive care, which can be expensive.

OBJECTIVES: The main objectives of the program are:

- The basic needs of human beings are food, shelter, and clothing. Crores of people are living far below the poverty line, lacking basic necessities..
- We see many old parents abandoned by their own selfish children, struggling for food and clothes. Many leprosy and HIV affected patients drag their lives in utter misery. Many spend nights on the foot paths and railway platforms barely having anything to cover them with from the cold or rain. Alleviating their suffering is our basic responsibility as human beings..
- Many poor people, whose life is a daily struggle, cannot afford even these basic amenities. VT is working on providing these essentials to the needy by donating and distributing clothes, blankets, and towels.
- GATE NSS unit would collect old clothes from local households and distribute them to the needy. This can help meet the clothing needs of people who cannot afford to buy new clothes, especially during times of economic hardship. By collecting and distributing old clothes, the NSS unit can promote sustainable practices and reduce waste. This can help reduce the environmental burden and promote responsible consumption and production.
- NSS unit. De GATE can involve local residents, NGOs and other community organizations in collecting and distributing old clothes. This can help create a sense of community and promote social cohesion.

- It can help students become more socially aware and responsible citizens. Collecting and sharing old clothes from local households can be a meaningful and effective activity for the GATE NSS unit.

OUTCOME:

Expected result of "Old Clothes Distribution"; The program is a tangible improvement in the quality of life of individuals and communities in need. By effectively redistributing old clothes, we want to clothe people in financial difficulties, promoting a sense of dignity and comfort. The impact of the program goes beyond the immediate delivery of clothing, as it reduces textile waste and promotes sustainable consumption habits. We look forward to stronger social ties and support networks through community and collaboration with local organizations. The success of the program is measured not only by the number of clothes distributed, but also by positive changes in environmental awareness and community cohesion. Ultimately, we strive to create a lasting legacy of compassion, resilience and inclusion, leaving a meaningful mark on the lives of those we seek to serve.

Report of the NSS Program on "Avoid Polythene Program".

Duration of the Program: 3 hour

The NSS program took place at GOBINDA NAGAR on 04/07/2022

VOLUNTEER TEAM: The students of G.A.T.E.

TARGET AUDIENCE: Students of G.A.T.E. and People of GOBINDA NAGAR

Date	04/07/2022
No. Of Participants	40
Faculty participants	11
Voluntary	Students of G.A.T.E.

Venue	GOBINDA NAGAR

OBJECTIVES - The initiative like the "Avoid Polythene Program" generally focus on minimizing the utilization, manufacturing, and adverse effects associated with polyethylene, a prevalent plastic substance recognized for its resilience and lack of biodegradability. Such a program aims to:

- Involving local communities, schools, businesses, and organizations in campaigns, clean-up drives, and initiatives aimed at reducing polythene usage. This fosters a sense of responsibility and collective action toward a plastic-free environment.
- Supporting research and development efforts for the creation of innovative, sustainable packaging solutions and materials that can replace polythene in various applications.
- Establishing metrics to measure the reduction in polythene usage, increased adoption of eco-friendly alternatives, and overall environmental impact to evaluate the success of the program.
- Polythene takes hundreds of years to decompose, leading to significant environmental pollution. Avoiding its use helps in curbing pollution, particularly in oceans, landfills, and natural habitats.
- Encouraging the adoption of eco-friendly and biodegradable alternatives to polythene, such as reusable bags made from cloth or biodegradable materials like jute or paper.

Principal
Gandhi Academy of
Technology and Engineering, Berhampur

OUTCOME :

The outcomes collectively contribute to creating a more sustainable and environmentally friendly society, protecting ecosystems, reducing pollution, and fostering a mindset shift toward responsible consumption and waste management.

- The program's success could result in a higher adoption rate of sustainable alternatives to polythene, such as reusable bags made from biodegradable materials or containers designed for multiple uses.
- The initiative might influence policymakers to implement regulations or laws that restrict the use of polythene and encourage the adoption of more sustainable materials, contributing to broader environmental protection efforts.
- Successful programs often foster community engagement and collective action. They encourage individuals, communities, businesses, and organizations to actively participate in reducing plastic waste, leading to a more environmentally conscious society.
- The program may stimulate innovation in the development of new materials and packaging solutions that are eco-friendly and can replace polythene, thereby promoting sustainable practices.
- Over time, the program's success can be measured through data showcasing reductions in plastic waste, improvements in environmental health indicators, and increased use of alternatives through surveys, waste audits, or other tracking methods.

OBJECTIVES:

The objective of a cancer program typically refers to the overarching goals and purposes of initiatives, projects, or organizations dedicated to addressing various aspects of cancer prevention, treatment, research, and support.

Cancer Prevention:

- Raise awareness about risk factors and promote lifestyle changes to reduce the incidence of cancer.
- Encourage regular screenings and early detection to prevent the development or progression of cancer.

Cancer Treatment:

- Ensure access to effective and timely cancer treatments for individuals diagnosed with cancer.
- Improve the quality of care and support services for cancer patients.
- Foster research and development of innovative cancer treatments.

Cancer Research:

- Conduct and support scientific research to better understand the causes of cancer.

Principal
Gandhi Academy of
Technology and Engineering, Berhampur

- Identify new diagnostic tools, treatment modalities, and preventive measures.
- Promote collaboration among researchers, institutions, and organizations to advance cancer knowledge.

OUTCOME:

The outcomes of cancer can vary widely based on factors such as the type of cancer, stage at diagnosis, treatment received, and individual patient characteristics. Here are some possible outcomes associated with cancer:

Cure:.

In some cases, especially when cancer is detected at an early stage and is responsive to treatment, individuals can be cured, meaning they are free of cancer and have a normal life expectancy.

Remission:

Remission refers to the disappearance of signs and symptoms of cancer. It may be partial or complete. In complete remission, there is no evidence of cancer, while in partial remission, some cancer cells may still be present.

Controlled Disease:

For some types of cancer, particularly those that are not curable, treatment may be able to control the growth and spread of cancer cells. This can help manage the disease as a chronic condition, allowing individuals to lead relatively normal lives.

OBJECTIVES:

The objectives of programs and initiatives related to Dengue fever, a mosquito-borne viral infection, typically revolve around preventing the transmission of the virus, reducing the incidence of Dengue cases, and mitigating the impact of the disease. Key objectives include:

Dengue Prevention:

- Mosquito Control: Implement measures to reduce mosquito populations, such as insecticide spraying, larval source reduction, and environmental management to eliminate breeding sites.
- Public Awareness: Educate communities about the importance of personal protection measures, such as using insect repellent, wearing long sleeves and pants, and using bed nets.

Early Detection and Diagnosis:

- Promote early recognition of Dengue symptoms among healthcare providers and the public.
- Strengthen laboratory capacity for accurate and timely diagnosis of Dengue cases.

Principal
Gandhi Academy of
Technology and Engineering, Berhampur

Clinical Management:

- Improve the clinical management of Dengue cases to reduce complications and mortality.
- Enhance healthcare provider training to recognize severe Dengue symptoms and provide appropriate medical care.

OUTCOME:

The outcomes of Dengue fever can vary depending on factors such as the individual's overall health, the presence of pre-existing conditions, the adequacy of medical care, and the specific strain of the Dengue virus. Here are the possible outcomes associated with Dengue fever:

Mild Dengue Fever:

- The majority of Dengue cases result in mild symptoms, including fever, headache, joint and muscle pain, rash, and mild bleeding manifestations (such as nosebleeds or gum bleeding).
- With proper medical care and supportive treatment, individuals with mild Dengue fever often recover fully.

Severe Dengue (Dengue Hemorrhagic Fever or Dengue Shock Syndrome):

- In a small percentage of cases, Dengue fever can progress to severe forms, such as Dengue Hemorrhagic Fever (DHF) or Dengue Shock Syndrome (DSS).
- Severe Dengue is characterized by plasma leakage, severe bleeding, and organ impairment. It can be life-threatening and requires immediate medical intervention.

Recovery:

- Most individuals, even those with severe Dengue, can recover with appropriate medical care and supportive treatment.
- Recovery often involves managing symptoms, preventing complications, and addressing any organ dysfunction that may have occurred.

Principal
Gandhi Academy of
Technology and Engineering, Berhamour

OUTCOME:

The distribution of old clothes can positively impact communities in need by providing them with essential items, especially in cases of economic hardship, natural disasters, or emergencies. Access to clean and wearable clothing can contribute to improved hygiene, health, and overall well-being, particularly in disadvantaged communities. Old cloth distribution programs can contribute to reducing textile waste by reusing and recycling clothing items instead of discarding them. By extending the lifespan of clothing, such programs align with sustainability goals by minimizing the environmental impact associated with new garment production. Individuals and families receiving old clothes may experience cost savings, as they can allocate resources to other essential needs when they receive clothing at no or reduced cost. Some programs may involve local communities in the distribution process, providing economic opportunities.

Duration of the Program: 3 hour

OBJECTIVES -The "Avoid Polythene Program" typically revolves around reducing the usage, production, and negative impacts of polyethylene (commonly referred to as "polythene"), a widely used plastic material known for its durability and non-biodegradable nature. The goals of such a program could include:

- Reducing Environmental Pollution: Polythene takes hundreds of years to decompose, leading to significant environmental pollution. Avoiding its use helps in curbing pollution, particularly in oceans, landfills, and natural habitats.
- Promoting Sustainable Alternatives: Encouraging the adoption of eco-friendly and biodegradable alternatives to polythene, such as reusable bags made from cloth or biodegradable materials like jute or paper.
- Raising Awareness: Educating individuals, communities, businesses, and policymakers about the harmful effects of polythene on the environment, wildlife, and human health. This includes spreading awareness about the importance of reducing, reusing, and recycling plastic materials.
- Policy Implementation: Advocating for or supporting policies and regulations that restrict the use of polythene, impose taxes or bans on single-use plastics, and promote the adoption of sustainable alternatives.

Principal
Gandhi Academy of
Technology and Engineering, Berhampur

OUTCOME:

- Reduction in Plastic Pollution: One of the primary outcomes is a decrease in the amount of plastic pollution in ecosystems, including oceans, rivers, and terrestrial environments.
- Improved Ecosystem Health: As plastic pollution diminishes, ecosystems are likely to experience improvements in health, leading to better biodiversity and overall ecological balance.
- Less Harm to Wildlife: With reduced plastic use, the threat to wildlife from ingestion or entanglement in plastic debris is minimized, promoting the well-being of various species.
- Sustainable Resource Use: The program can contribute to a more sustainable use of resources by decreasing the demand for raw materials used in plastic production, such as fossil fuels.
- Decreased Landfill Burden: The amount of non-biodegradable plastic waste in landfills should decrease, leading to less strain on waste management systems and limited environmental contamination.
- Shift in Consumer Behavior: Successful programs can result in a shift in consumer behavior towards more sustainable choices, fostering a culture of responsible consumption and waste reduction.
- Encouragement of Alternatives: The program may stimulate the adoption of alternative materials like biodegradable plastics, paper, or reusable materials, promoting a more eco-friendly approach.

OBJECTIVES:

The objective of a cancer awareness program is to educate and inform the public about various aspects of cancer, with the ultimate goal of promoting early detection, prevention, and overall well-being. Here are some key objectives of a cancer awareness program:

- Education and Information: Provide accurate and up-to-date information about different types of cancer, risk factors, symptoms, and treatment options. Dispel myths and misconceptions surrounding cancer to promote a better understanding.
- Early Detection: Emphasize the importance of early detection through regular screenings and self-examinations. Raise awareness about the signs and symptoms of cancer, encouraging individuals to seek medical attention promptly.
- Prevention: Promote healthy lifestyle choices and behaviours that can reduce the risk of developing cancer. This may include advocating for tobacco cessation, a balanced diet, regular physical activity, and sun protection measures.

Principal
Gandhi Academy of
Technology and Engineering, Berhampur

OUTCOME:

The outcomes of a cancer awareness program are multifaceted, ranging from individual behaviour changes to broader societal impacts. The success of such a program is often measured through various indicators, and the ultimate goal is to reduce the incidence of cancer, improve early detection rates, enhance treatment outcomes, and provide support for individuals affected by cancer. Here are some potential outcomes of a cancer awareness program:

- Increased Awareness: One of the primary outcomes is an increased level of awareness and knowledge about cancer within the target population. This includes understanding risk factors, recognizing symptoms and being informed about available preventive measures and screening options.
- Early Detection and Diagnosis: Successful cancer awareness programs contribute to a higher rate of early detection. Individuals who are more aware of the signs and symptoms of cancer are likely to seek medical attention promptly, leading to earlier diagnosis and improved treatment outcomes.
- Improved Health Behaviours : Cancer awareness programs often aim to promote healthier lifestyles and behaviours that can reduce the risk of developing cancer. Positive changes in behaviours such as smoking cessation, adopting a healthier diet, regular exercise, and sun protection contribute to overall better health and well-being.

OBJECTIVES: The main objectives of the program are:

- Food, Cloth and Shelter are the three basic needs of common people. As we are born, weather is sensitive for everyone; everybody feels heat, cold and rain. Many among India's poor and underprivileged people lack adequate clothing. People usually say that thousands of people die every year in India, but we say that they die due to lack of clothes and blankets. So just because they are poor we don't want they should suffer- Because All Human Life Is Sacred...!
- The main objective behind cloth distribution was to provide the cloths to the needy people and it became a reason for someone's fathomless happiness that could put them to fair use. GATE, Berhampur through its NSS unit works to ensure health and improve the quality of life of poor and downtrodden. To collect old clothes that can be still be used and make those available to the needy free of cost through different NGOs and other organisations which are working for the uplift of the poor and underprivileged.
- The NSS unit of GATE would collect old clothes from local households and distribute them to people in need. This can help meet the clothing needs of people who cannot afford to buy new clothes, especially during times of economic hardship. By collecting and redistributing old clothes, the NSS unit can promote sustainable practices and reduce waste. This can help reduce the burden on the environment and promote responsible consumption and production.

- The NSS unit. Of GATE can involve local residents, NGOs, and other community organizations in the collection and distribution of old clothes. This can help build a sense of community and promote social cohesion.
- This can help students become more socially conscious and responsible citizens. Collecting and distributing old clothes from local households can be a meaningful and impactful activity for the NSS unit of GATE

OUTCOME:

Helping those who cannot afford to buy new clothes: Donating old clothing can help persons who cannot afford to buy new clothing by giving them access to clothing for themselves or their families. Reducing waste: By keeping items out of landfills, vintage garment donations can help reduce waste.

The purpose of this activity is to provide clothes to the needy Families of nearby village Golanthara. The NSS Volunteers started this activity in the institute and kept boxes near the entrances of the institutes. There was overwhelming response from Teaching, Non-Teaching staffs and students in GATE Campus. The students were very enthusiastic about the drive as they were happy after experiencing the cheerful and happy faces of the children in Village. The villagers accepted all the clothes without any grudging which were distributed by NSS Volunteers. They also thanked and appreciated all the NSS Volunteers and Programme officer for taking the initiative in these regards and the Concern of GATE NSS unit.

OUTCOME:

A Girl child is a blessing. She plays many roles in her life. She is considered to be the pillar that runs the home and yet she is not given the respect she deserves. There are many societies in India where gender discrimination still exists to this date. People in these societies are uneducated and they do not consider girls to be equal to boys. Few years ago, there is huge reduction in the number of girl in comparison to the man. It was so because of the increasing crimes against girl such as female feticide, dowry deaths, rape, poverty, illiteracy, gender discrimination and many more.

To equalize the number of women in the society, it is very necessary to aware people greatly about the save girl child. Although girls are ahead of boys in many fields but still people prefer a boy child. Girls have proven themselves better in every field than boys.
